WE INTEGRATE PRODUCT SUPPORT

Don't try. Rely.

The world has changed profoundly. Alliances have shifted, posing various challenges to long-standing strategic partnerships, while humanity faces the need to develop resilience against ecological threats as well as unprecedented competition from artificial intelligence.

The vision of HICO is clear: to provide the IPS knowledge base that facilitates assured decision-making, drives cutting edge Research & Development and ensures a maximum of operational readiness of your technical assets.

The Human Intelligence Experience

In technologically highly advanced industrial sectors, it is important to promote and strengthen human collaboration as a key factor in the safe handling of infrastructure and safety-critical products. It is a matter of trust - both in the products and in the people behind them.

The reliable deployment of artificial intelligence requires certain essential foundations: data integrity, the quality of knowledge mapping, robust business processes, and, ultimately, the controlled integration of AI applications. The HICO end-to-end solution already provides the necessary data foundation and the digital continuity within the IPS & ILS application domain.

At the IPS Convention 2026, you will gain insights from best-practice examples and have the opportunity to engage directly with experts and peers: Exchange knowledge, get answers to all your IPS-related questions in a collaborative environment and shape the future together.

With best regards

Werner M. Schadelbauer
